DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 3, 7, 10, 23, and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wakai et al. in view of Kiyohara et al. Wakai et al. discloses the invention including an apparatus of estimating a lifetime of a cutter (Abstract), a detector for detecting a value of a current loaded on the motor, a comparator (62), an output element (Column 3 third paragraph), that the comparator determines if the cutter is unfit for use (Column 3 third paragraph), that the comparator is in a microcomputer (18), and a motor driving the cutter (22). The examiner notes that current is measured in amps and an ammeter is used to measure amps therefore it is inherent that an ammeter would be present. The Wakai et al. patent fails to disclose a fixed blade, a movable blade that is movable along the fixed blade, a receiving element that is movable together with the movable blade, a support for supporting the movable blade and a support for supporting the receiving element, and that the supports are intergral with one another. Kiyohara et al. teaches a fixed blade (94), a movable blade that is movable along the fixed blade (42), a receiving element that is movable together with the movable blade (82), a support for supporting the movable blade (80) and a support for supporting the receiving element (80), and that the supports are intergral with one another (Fig. 7). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to have provided Wakai et al. with the cutting apparatus, as taught by Kiyohara et al., to allow for the cutting of a flexible web.

3. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wakai et al. in view of Kiyohara et al. as applied to claim 1 above. Wakai et al. and Kiyohara et al. disclose the invention but fail to disclose the use of a visual display, however, official notice is taken that the use of an output element comprising a visual display is old and well known in the art. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to have provided Wakai et al. in view of Kiyohara et al. with an output element comprising a visual display for an easier way of seeing the output element.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 25 and 26 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 29 November 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the cutting apparatus of the Wakai et al. patent to incorporate the structure of the old and well-known cutting apparatus taught by the Kiyohara et al. patent to better cut a specific type of work piece. Also the tool detection system disclosed in Wakai et al. is perfectly capable of performing its intended function in an environment of less wear.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
